

Work in Progress Student Symposium 2022

The Department of Cognitive Psychology at the Institute of Psychology of the Eötvös Loránd University is organizing its annual student symposium, "Work in Progress". The main goal is to provide a forum for students to present their research to a broader audience of peers and receive feedback on their work.

Participation is open for any student who has not yet received their Ph.D. degree. We invite submissions from all areas of cognitive science. Pilot studies and research plans are also welcome. The presentations should be in English.

Date and time: 14 February 2023 (Tuesday), 10:00 AM

Location: Microsoft Teams (details to be shared later)

The presentations should be 10 minutes long in the case of completed studies and 5 minutes long in the case of pilot studies or research plans. There is no time limit for the discussion.

If you would like to present your work, please register here:
